On April 7th, 1906, the National Academy of Design and the Society of American Artists were united.

THE FOUNDERS.

On the 8th of November, 1825, a number of young Artists and Students established the New York Drawing Association; and soon after, on the 19th of January, 1826, they resolved themselves into a new organization, to be known as the National Academy of the Arts of Design. They thereupon chose from their number fifteen artists, who were directed to choose fifteen others, the thirty thus selected to constitute the new society.

Of this body of Founders of the National Academy of Design, whose names are here recorded, the last survivor, Thomas S. Cummings, N.A., who was for many years the Treasurer, and at one time the Vice-President, of the Academy, died September 25, 1894.

DEPARTMENT OF SCHOOLS OF THE NATIONAL ACADEMY OF DESIGN
FREE TO ALL STUDENTS INTENDING TO FOLLOW ART AS A PROFESSION

The aim of the National Academy being to further the Arts of Design its schools have been maintained since its foundation, for more than eighty years, with this object in view; and on its rolls will be found the names of nearly all the most eminent artists of America.

At the cost of much sacrifice, and by the careful expenditure of a limited and insufficient income, this work has been accomplished in the past; and, in the same spirit, the Academy faces the larger duties of the future, hoping to extend thereby the beneficence of its service.

The schools are free to its accepted students, the only limitation being that none but those intending to follow art as a profession, and who are under thirty years of age, are eligible.

The students admitted, after passing an examination sufficient to demonstrate a reasonable fitness for the vocation, are afforded the advantages of study under the following Instructors, and in the Special Classes noted below.

INSTRUCTORS:

EMIL CARLSEN, N. A.	FRANCIS C. JONES, N.A.
GEORGE W. MAYNARD, N.A.	EDGAR M. WARD, N.A.
CHARLES LOUIS HINTON.

SPECIAL CLASSES:

SCULPTURE CLASS	H. A. MACNEIL, N.A.
ETCHING CLASS	CHARLES F. W. MIELATZ, A.N.A.
COMPOSITION CLASS	GEORGE W. MAYNARD, N.A.
LECTURES ON PERSPECTIVE	FREDERICK DIELMAN, P.N.A.
LECTURES ON ANATOMY	J. S. HARTLEY, N.A.
LECTURES ON HISTORY OF PAINTING	A. T. VAN LAER, A.N.A.

The atelier system, by which each student, from his entrance and during his progress through the school, remains under the direction of one and the same instructor, except in special classes, is in force in the schools of the Academy.

This late innovation, not elsewhere practised in this country, has long been the system established in the more progressive art schools of Europe. It facilitates the development of the individual capacities of the student, and has been adopted in the Academy Schools as a primary step to a more advanced instruction in the Fine Arts than has heretofore been obtainable in the United States.

In fulfilment of an agreement made January 12, 1906, between the National Academy of Design and Columbia University, by which the two institutions seek to co-operate in the establishment of this advanced School of Fine Arts, plans have been formulated conferring benefits not obtainable elsewhere upon students in our schools, and, as time and the means at the disposition of the Academy permit, these advantages will be greatly increased.

The lack of sufficient revenue, from endowment or contribution, is at present the chief obstacle to the early achievement of these projects; and the attention of the public is called to this notable lack in our system of education, which precludes the enjoyment of the benefits of the higher elements of art instruction without recourse to the facilities established in other countries.

The National Academy of Design in its present schools has laid the foundation to supply this need, and looks to the friends of education and the lovers of art to enable it to carry on the task to further completion than its present limited means allow.

The schools are in session from the beginning of October to about the middle of May each year, Sundays and holidays excepted, from 9 A.M. to 12 M., and from 1 to 4 P.M. Evening Classes from 7 to 10.

School circulars giving full information for intending students are obtainable on application to the National Academy of Design—Department of Schools,—109th Street and Amsterdam Avenue, New York, N. Y.
